ANNUAL ROLL CALL FOR AMERICAN RED CROSS TO OPEN ARMISTICE DAY

Committees Have Been Appointed and Work is Ready To Begin to Secure The County Quota of 300 Members In National Philanthropic Society.

The annual Roll Call or membership drive of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross will begin Armistice Day and continue through Thanksgiving, and will be opened officially in Bay St. Louis by participation in Red Cross costume of a group of members in the Armistice Day parade sponsored by the American Legion. Mrs. Marielouise Juden, Roll Call chairman, announces. In advance of the Roll Call opening, Mrs. Harry da Ponte, publicity chairman, requested the drug stores to have Red Cross displays in their windows, and posters were made and placed in various business houses, telling of the annual Red Cross.

George R. Rea, chairman of the local chapter, will appear on the program Friday morning at the school auditorium, announcing the Roll Call and appealing to the citizens for support.

Three hundred members for Hancock is the goal set for this year, each membership costing $1.

The committee, composed of work in the Bay-Waveland district include: Mesdames Marielouise Juden, Harry G. da Ponte, Milton Phillips, Sidney Prague, R. B. Logan, George R. Rea, K. W. Pepperdine, Edw. Carrere, Leo Seal, Horace Kerger, W. O. Sylvester, A. P. Smith, Harold Weston, Misses May, Edwards, Beatrice Smith and Florence Keen.

Governor's Proclamation.

Governor Sennett Conner has issued a proclamation calling on the people of the state to support the Red Cross in the Roll Call and this proclamation follows:

The annual Roll Call of the American National Red Cross will be held from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, and I desire to urge our people to "Help the Red Cross Help Others" by joining the Red Cross during this Roll Call.

During the past year the American Red Cross has aided over 15,000,000 people suffering from unemployment or other causes. In our own state this organization has distributed 75,246 barrels of flour for 116,195 families, and 606,420 yards cotton cloth for 40,200 families. The administration costs of this distribution of government commodities are borne by the National Red Cross. In the fight against pledges over 14,000 pounds of yeast were furnished last year. Produce in the gardens, made possible through the furnishing of seed to over 12,000 families last fall and over 12,000 last spring, has greatly lightened the relief load of all agencies. In aiding Mississippi chapters in their work of unemployment relief and in the relief of disaster sufferers in the flooded areas, the National Red Cross expended from its general funds $63,919.00. To continue this work an increased membership support is essential.

In our efforts to set up the administrative machinery necessary for the proper distribution of relief funds secured from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, we are calling upon the Red Cross for assistance, and this organization is responding gladly and generously. Every Mississippian who can possibly pay the membership fee should count it both his duty and a privilege to become a member of this greatest of all American relief organizations. I sincerely trust that the goal of 60,000 members in the State of Mississippi shall be reached and surpassed long before Thanksgiving Day.

Faithfully,

SENNETT CONNER, Governor.

Armistice Day, November 11, the great American Red Cross will begin its annual Roll Call. On the day that the world offers prayers for the thousands of men who gave their lives during the World War that we may live in peace, we can more vividly recall the merciful relief work of the Red Cross during the conflict. But we should bear in mind that the Red Cross works faithfully in times of peace as well. It needs the loyal support of every man, woman and child.

The Red Cross meets disaster, sickness and suffering with a promptness and efficiency unrivaled by none. And now in our trying time of unemployment and distress throughout our country, the Red Cross has been foremost in relief, distributing some thousands of pounds of flour, hundreds of yards of cotton goods, thousands of cases of yeast, garden seed, medicine and in many cases rendered financial aid.

This year the need for an increased membership is most impor-

GOLF TEAM FROM BAY ST. LOUIS WINS LOVING CUP SUNDAY

Members of Both Teams Fight to Finish—Matches Are Interesting.

The Bay St. Louis-Edgewater's a group of local golfers were victorious in their final matches, Sunday, against the Pass Christian Barksdale's at Edgewater Golf Course, by a small margin of two points.

The match has been postponed several times lately and the players were eager to close the tournament which would decide the winner of the loving cup donated by Pro. Dodge, who sponsored the tournament.

The cup is attractive and will be in permanent possession of the winners.

The following players from Bay St. Louis were: Fred Wright, S. L. Engman, Bill Wells, Bob Mitchell, C. C. McDonald, F. Cruthirds, R. L. Genin and L. S. Elliott.

The Pass Christian Players were: L. H. Barksdale, Dr. Henry Tete, S. J. Dedeaux, Clyde Lundy, Harry Renaud, Gilespie, Brown and Fred Sutter.

The weather was cloudy and the course was soggy, but good cards were turned in and the winners were not known until the last foursome finished play, so close was the total score.

Sunday's games completed a series of matches between the four cities of Gulfport, Biloxi, Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis started in September. Gulfport and Biloxi withdrew and left only Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian in the finals.

Edgewater Golf Course where the matches have been played is in excellent condition and with the planting of winter grass the greens and fairways will be hard to beat. It is the intention of Pro. Saunders who will be in charge of the course after January 1st, when the hotel opens for the winter months to have a number of intercity matches for the entertainment of the local Gulf Coast and visiting golfers.

Officers elected for the Mothers' Club follows: Mrs. Edmund Fahey, president; Mrs. J. H. Redmond of New Orleans, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Rugh, secretary; Miss Clara Kergosien, assistant secretary; and Mrs. J. J. Grevenburg, treasurer.

High mass was held in Our Lady of the Gulf church at 11 o'clock, with the parish pastor and priests in charge.

Dinner was served in the newly repaired and redecorated dining room and a pleasant social intercourse resulted.

In the afternoon everyone attended the football game between St. Stanislaus and Commercial High of New Orleans, a game that was won by Commercial High.

All chorus numbers and solos were accompanied by Mrs. Smith with the exception of Mrs. Syler's solo which Miss Renaud accompanied.

We have every assurance from the Schubert Club that they are planning another program in the near future.

The personal of the club includes

Sopranos—Mrs. H. C. Glover, Mrs. James Sylvester, Mrs. E. C. Carrere, Mrs. Geo. R. Rea; Altos: Mrs. W. W. Stockstill, Mrs. L. S. Elliott, Mrs. Carl Smith, Misses Irma Koch, Genevieve Green, Margaret Green and M. L. Renaud. Miss Eveline Lacoste is director and Mrs. Smith accompanist, assisted by Miss M. L. Renaud.

The Bay St. Louis Ramblers, football team, journeyed to Slidell to play the Slidell Bulldogs and were defeated by the score of 13-0.

The game was played on a field of mud and water in which the ball was muddy and slippery it was hard to handle. The Ramblers only used the pass and line buck because of the slippery ball. In the backfield for the Ramblers Eddie Blaize and Richard Koch were stars while on the line Terry Jefferies and Warren Lareaux did excellent playing and tackling. The following players made the trip: Captain Ainsworth Kidd, Eddie Blaize, Robert Favre, Richard Koch, Warren and Jimmy Lareaux, Ed. Whitfield, Henry and John Monti, Bobby Strong, Bill Griffith, John Demoran, Terry Jefferies, Irwin Favre, Bill Witter, Manager Hortaio Favre, assistant and reporter Cedric Heitzman and Tony Be-

ANOTHER BUSINESS CRISIS.

ONE of the major commercial wars now going on is being fought out in the cigarette trade. The four big manufacturing companies, which have been retailing cigarettes in a package of twenty for fifteen cents, are facing a growing competition by a group of independent manufacturers selling the same quantity of cigarettes at ten cents.

A little over a year ago nine-tenths of the cigarettes sold in this country were in the fifteen cents package. Then, one manufacturer started a certain brand at ten cents. After its sales increased other independents followed suit and gradually the proportion of the cheaper grades of cigarettes being used grew in comparison with the more expensive brands.

The established manufacturers are beginning to worry about these cheaper brands. The war is on in earnest. The final decision will come from the public. If the new production, at ten cents, satisfied the consumers needs, there is no possible way for the larger manufacturers to keep their market at a price half again as high.

AN EFFECTIVE SERMON.

WORTH noting in the welter of news that comes from various countries as unemployed riot and threaten disorder is the story that comes from Belfast, in Ireland.

It seems that rioters in the midst of labor disorders looted a number of stores. A few days later, the shop keepers were surprised when the looters returned the goods that had been stolen.

The explanation for this, as reported in The New York Sun, is a sermon preached by Rev. John McCaffrey, a Methodist minister, who insisted that "there can be no real peace of mind or sense of forgiveness until there has been restitution."

His sermon was much discussed and appears to illustrate the power of the pulpit in a day when it seems to be so generally disregarded.

WE'LL SAY, "WHAT KIND?"

WHAT kind of race would we have if the minds of men and women demanded food with the same insistence that the stomach does?

Suppose, your brain, if neglected and forgotten for a day, would set up the same insistent clamor for sustenance that your appetite does. Would you know more; or do you, maybe, take care of the normal craving that visits intelligent minds and see that you provide a diet for the thinking machine?

Truth is supposed to be the goal of education and philosophy, and religion, as well. The truth will "set us free." How many of us realize that the best pursuit of truth comes only when a mind is free of passions, prejudices and popular superstitions? How many of us make any systematic effort to remove these cobwebs from our brains?

NOW, THAT IT'S OVER.

THE fact that the presidential campaign has been concluded is a good thing for the country.

It is time for the people of the United States to get back to solid ground and stop listening to candidates' promises, which, at best, can only help them help themselves. Too much dependence upon governmental agencies for taking care of individual problems will not help anybody.

Of course, the government in the past few years has been ladling out its money with a lavish hand. Most of it will have to be paid back through taxation. Here's where the little fellow feels the relief!

Advertising is still the best way to sell merchandise.

The jobless man who hiked 11,000 miles had something to do.

When farmers buy, factories run and furnish jobs for workers.

Most people get along all right as long as their money holds out.

Nearly all your friends will point out how you made your first mistake.

Look out for "shooting stars" this month and automobiles every month.

An intention to pay your bills will never help your creditors to make his settlements.

Management claims the credit for good business and blames "outside influences" during hard times.

Smart men and women know it; the trouble with the country is that some who are not so smart don't know it.

We know a man who has 453 plans for making money, but all of them require $5 capital. He hasn't the capital.

AN OPEN MIND.

SOME of the essentials for success, says William Lyon Phelps, Yale Professor of English, in a recent issue of the Rotarian magazine, are:

"Apart from the imponderable values of the open mind, there are three definite gains by freeing one's nature of prejudice," Professor Phelps goes on to say. "Every man will enjoy better success in his business or profession or whatever may be his field of activity, by possessing a mind open to suggestions, to new points of view, to new methods. History is full of the business failures of those who would not learn; who seem to think that although the calendar declares that this year is 1932, the methods of business should remain exactly what they were in 1902. The open mind means a progressive mind."

Secondly, he points out that as nearly all difficulties with individuals, communities and nations arise from misunderstanding, and misunderstanding invariably follows prejudice, it should be clear that if we wish to get along either with our partners or with our rivals, we must have an open mind, the key to understanding. Many men, in their attitude to others, are like suspicious dogs. They are prejudiced against every person and every proposition that is unfamiliar. This makes them difficult to get on with; and one cannot succeed in modern conditions if one is awkward or hostile in intercourse.

And thirdly, the absence of prejudice, entirely apart from technical efficiency, immensely increases one's capacity for happiness. "The world is so full of interesting people and interesting objects that the failure to find life interesting certainly does not lie with the world; dullness exists only in the individual mind. Thus, anything that can increase our capacity for happiness will increase our happiness. I have never seen anyone with an open and eager mind, who remained consistently unhappy."

WAR DEBTS PROBLEMS.

FOREIGN leaders do not hesitate to push the consideration of the debts of their nations to the United States in an effort to secure an increased cancellation of them.

The Italian war debt was scaled down to about one-fourth of what the original agreement would have called for, yet a few days ago Premier Mussolini issued a stirring appeal calculated to influence the United States to remit more of the payments which are now due.

In France, the Government intends to discuss this matter. In the meantime, one of the leaders of the opposition has served notice that he will bring the American debt before the Chamber of Deputies. Again the effort will be to cancel what is due.

There are two points to keep in mind, if the war debts are cancelled. First, and important to the American taxpayer is that the debt of the American Government for the money was loaned will still have to be paid. Second, it will do the world little good if these nations are excused from paying their obligations, only to spend that much more money in the building up of large armies and navies for future wars.

There is much to be said in favor of a partial cancellation of these debts. Many economists believe it would stimulate international commerce and contribute measurably to revive prosperity. At the same time, however, if these debts are cancelled, the American Government should get some consideration therefrom, such as an effective agreement for disarmament, the cession of strategic islands or trade concessions.

ECONOMY MAY IMPERIL.

THE cry for economy that is abroad throughout the land is a sensible demand on the part of people everywhere.

Governments—local, state and federal—have spent too much money. The time for retrenchment is at hand and expenses should be reduced until people are better able to bear the costs of unnecessary activities.

That is where the rub comes. What one man considers unessential, another insists is vital and necessary. To agree upon items to be chopped out of an appropriation bill is never an easy job for legislators, or for citizens.

However, there is one thing that should be upheld. That is sound and sensible expenditure in behalf of public education. Nothing has done as much for the nation as the money put on our public schools. Nothing would do as much harm, in our opinion, as a foolish and absurd policy of retrenchment that would cripple our schools.

There are in school affairs, like every other activity, some unessentials, some extravagances inherited from the boom days. These must, and should be, clipped. In case of doubt, however, it would be better to retain them than to dispense with them before we are certain of our ground.

DISEASES OF DEPRESSION.

WARNING that the diseases of the depression cannot be seen today but that they will be in evidence five years from now. Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, recently declared that present death rates are deceptive.

Pointing out that they follow a period of great prosperity, during which we had an abundance of clothing, food and everything to maintain health, the doctor declared:

"Nowadays tremendous numbers of people are without the necessities for a healthy life. Many children are not receiving the food, the housing and the warm clothing necessary to prevent degenerative diseases, the diseases of malnutrition, tuberculosis."

Moreover, continued Dr. Fishbein, adults are postponing medical care and the result will be that doctors of the future will see cancers that have gone too long untreated and tuberculosis that has been neglected.

The present depression finds popular young men thinning out their girl friends to escape the Christmas season's demands.

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

DROP OF WATER.

IT IS NOT the deluge but the constant drop of water that wears away the stone. Leaders who think in their shoes rather than in caparison domes labor under the impression that so long as the tax-gatherer takes but a wee bit at a time, he shall not mind and go happy on our way.

Since most of us are unaware of what the ratioinative processes of Mill are, perhaps we are generally unmindful of the little drop here, a sprinkle there and a big gush out yonder.

What we do not see does hurt us—at first.

That is the theory on which brethren of county sales taxation work; but that is NOT the way out, not the way to WIN, but it is the easiest way to face a perplexing problem because it does not require any THINKING.

Thinking is the most difficult thing the man is called on to do.

Thinking is so hard that it hurts. So, we always avoid it; and, with avidity, we stize on the first straw that floats into the mind, even if it is obviously absurd and dangerous, consequently, the world has at times been plunged into black despair.

What this state needs in its straits is hard-thinking and hard-planning.

Any fool can give a suggestion, but it shall require a Solomon or a Lycurgus to dig down into the depths and get the answer to the commonwealth's manifold financial and other problems.

It was quite easy for leaders to think, Tax the poor! Tax those who WILL pay! Tax those who produce the revenue of the state—the merchants—and they will come to our rescue.

But it shall require double-distilled hard-thinking and hard-planning to yank the commonwealth out of the abyss shallow thinking has plunged the state into—especially so if the same processes of thinking are continued.—Clarksdale Register.

RELIEF IS COMING.

ACTION of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in allotting $850,000 to Mississippi for unemployment relief is confronting to all citizens of this state who realize that aid from some source is necessary to carry the needy through the coming winter.

There are thousands of hungry, cold and naked people in this state who must be cared for to prevent actual suffering. Many of these persons are able-bodied men and youths who are willing to work and earn a living for their families and themselves but they cannot obtain gainful jobs.

The federal funds are designed only for payrolls for the jobless and three-quarters of a million dollars turned loose in this state between November 1 and December 31 will be of monumental help.

Governor Conner presented a sincerely honest account of the state's case to the R. F. C. when he went to Washington last week. No man, particularly a chief executive, should be accused of political chicanery where human suffering is concerned as is the present relief situation in Mississippi.

But the R. F. C. did not have to take only the governor's word, although the government leaders would unquestionably have done so. The R. F. C. had field men at work checking with the various states, in regard to their needs as compared to their wants. The Red Cross also has been actively engaged in the relief surveys and has been assisting the R. F. C. in determining the approximate condition in all sections of the country.

Nobody wants Mississippi to become a beggar at the government's back door but other states are being helped by the federal relief commission and there is no reason why this state should not be included in the project.—Hattiesburg American.

SELFISH.

SOME of us talk of this "depression" as engineered by outside agencies.

As a matter of fact, our present state of things represents in main the selfishness, of us, ourselves.

All of us sought to make money out of the so-called boom.

We have esteemed temporary profits far above eternal worth.

We "played" the market; we gambled in our stocks and bonds; we became in sense mere "Get rich quick" Wallingford's.

Time has a way of "evening up."

Eventually, we who sought to catch the other fellow have merely caught ourselves.

Neither particular man nor specific institutions are at fault.

All of us have proven victims of the "easy money" craze.

And the result is very much the same.

All of us are at fault; all of us played the game for "ill-gotten easy gain."

And all of us have been "caught" in present stress.

Selfishness has brought us in—

Only unselfish cooperation can bring us out.—The Meridian Star.

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 10 LBS. IN A WEEK

Mrs. Betty Luedke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in a week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoon of hot water in the morning before breakfast go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money.

Echols' item advised the thief who lifted 15 Barred Rocks and White Leghorns from his roost not to eat them, and also warned persons purchasing chickens to know whence they came as they might become ill from eating them.

The fowl, Echols said, have a "tummy full of strichine."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

IS EXPRESSING THANKS

Bay St. Louis, Miss.
Nov. 9, 1932.

Editor Sea Coast Echo:
I wish to express my sincere appreciation to my many friends for their loyal and whole hearted support to the President-Elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt, with all my personal communications from Mr. Roosevelt, I feel very close to him. I have worked conscientiously and feel that I am responsible, for many votes in the Democratic column. I can truly say that everyone who voted a Democratic ticket will never regret having done so. The machinery will start to work on the fourth of next March, 1933, and in a short time all the people of this nation are going to appreciate a leader like Mr. Roosevelt.

To all people of our United States keep up the fighting spirit, and beginning with next March, when the new administration goes in, Happy Days and Prosperity will come again.

Yours until then,

RUSSELL THEODORE MANIERI
